HONGKONG, 2ND NOVEMBER, 1881.

In several quarters the question has recently been put—"Does China move?" and various arguments, both in support of a negative and an affirmative answer, have been adduced. We have no hesitation, however, in avowing our belief in the commencement of an era of progress in China, which in a few years will have broken down the barrier of exclusiveness and conservatism to such an extent that each succeeding year will so far outstrip the other in material advancement as to bring the Celestial Empire completely within the family of nations, and that in a period little dreamt of by many at the present moment. It is not necessary to enumerate the political and commercial events of the last ten years to support this view, and those who have studied Chinese affairs during that period will readily admit that the present is not absolutely barren of fruit, the seeds of which have been sown in the past. On no subject, probably, are the Chinese more disinclined to make alterations and concessions than in the rules laid down for the conduct of official business and the observance of their ancient etiquette; but it is a notable fact that the Tsung-li Yamen much more readily entertains and acquiesces in proposals for the modification of the rules of official intercourse now than in years gone by; and we yet hope to see the annoyances and embarrassments to which foreign officials have hitherto been subjected, more especially in the transaction of business with the provincial authorities, entirely removed. Consular officers have been at last considered in this connection, and the result of the negotiations between the Foreign Ministers and the Tsung-li Yamen must be eminently satisfactory to the large and deserving body of officials in China of the various Treaty Powers. The following rules, which have been made by the Tsung-li Yamen, have received the approbation of Prince Kung:—(1) Whenever Consular officers have occasion to hold personal interviews with a Governor or Governor-General, they shall not be treated as subordinates, but with the etiquette which a host shows to guests. (2) If Consular officers have occasion to correspond about ordinary matters of business, they shall, as heretofore, address the Intendants, who will, in turn, memorialise the Viceroy or Governor. That high officer, will, as heretofore, instruct the Intendant in response, who will address the proper Consular Officer. But in important official matters of business, the High Provincial Authorities and the Consular Officers, without regard to the differences of rank, can on both sides use the words "An Official Communication." (3) The Provincial Authorities shall, in correspondence with a Consul, prefix the character kwei to his title, and shall cease to use the vermilion pencil to bracket or point certain characters, as they do use it instructing subordinate officials. The Prince of Kung announces that instructions in accordance with this agreement have been sent to the Viceroys and Governors of the various provinces for their information and guidance. The second and third rules here laid down are plain and distinct, and place Consular Officers on a footing upon which they should have stood years ago; and although the first rule may be considered slightly ambiguous, and be capable of a certain amount of contortion, the words "Consular Officer . . . shall not be treated as subordinates, but with the etiquette a host shows to guests," can, to our mind, bear but one construction, and that is that when the Viceroy's yamen is opened for the reception of a Consul, the Foreign Official will pass through the middle gate, and not the side, as heretofore. If our supposition be correct, the concession may be regarded as considerable, for there can be no question that the estimation in which foreigners are held by the Chinese people is greatly influenced by the treatment of foreign by native officials.

The Visitors to the City Hall Museum for the week ending 30th October, were—European, 157, Chinese, 2,058.

We beg to inform the gentleman, who sent us the doggerel, "The Mac Climax of Effrontery," from the Hongkong Club, that we do not publish any literary contributions unless authenticated by the name and address of the writer. Nor do we make the columns of the Hongkong Telegraph a medium for vulgar attacks, emanating from private malice, on any resident of this colony, or on anybody else. If the author of these six verses of contemptible, scurrilous rubbish is anxious to pitch into the gentleman alluded to let him do it honestly, and in manly fashion. We shall be glad to receive his name and address as a guarantee of his bona fides.

We are not aware whether there is any actual legal restriction in the Colony regarding the execution of public works on Sunday; but we do know that in British Settlements elsewhere, the prohibition to the employment of labour on that day not only applies to public, but also extends to private works. We were much scandalised, sometime last month, on witnessing certain repairs to a public building in Queen's Road being carried out, and, more recently, actually stone breaking on a public road—hard labour—on the day set apart for rest! What would our ancient friends, the Sunday Society of 9, Conduit Street, London, say to this? Where are our friends the missionaries, and their recognised champion the China Mail?

In connection with the shooting affair at Nah-doo, our readers will remember that the sum of $700 was paid by Mr. McKean as compensation to the relatives of the deceased children. It will be interesting to know that when a case like this is settled at the Yamen by payment of a pecuniary indemnity, the Magistrate has no share in the sum paid. The clerk of the Yamen, the inner door keeper of the Yamen, the attendant office boys, runners and usher take a share of the money. The inner door keeper is an official of great power as he possesses the "sesame" to an audience, and unless there is a prospect of remuneration he would not put himself out of the way to oblige suitors. He is generally paid out of the indemnity for his services. The ti-pao of the village, must also have a portion of the indemnity, and the largest share goes to him. After the Yamen officials have been paid, the ti-pao comes for his portion and about half of the blood money will go to the parents. The latter would not get more than half, perhaps $400, and if they had no influence they would not obtain more than $200. The ti-pao objects to a case being brought on in open Court for he would get little out of it; but by private arrangement he has the biggest squeeze.—Courier.

The Russian volunteer cruiser Vladivostok, Captain Varonoff, has arrived here from Newchwang.

Says the Mercury of the 26th ult, Taohai Mah left to-day per steamer Pautah, for Tientsin.

The German ship Wega was undocked at Aberdeen this morning. Arrangements are now in progress which will probably end in the steamship Devonshire docking at Aberdeen this afternoon.

There is a rumour abroad to the effect that a fracas has occurred on board the steamer Hwai-yuen while on her passage from Shanghai to Hankow with troops. It is stated the soldiers attacked the Captain, and in the mêlée the chief engineer was wounded with a sword.—N. C. Daily News.

The N. C. Daily News learns that Tseng Kuo-ch'ian, the successor of the late Tsun-t'ang in the Viceroyalty of Shantung, has tendered his resignation on the plea of sickness. His request has been granted, and Tan Ching-lin, Hsün-fu or Governor of Ché-kiang, is appointed to fill the vacant post.

The British steamer Namoa, just arrived, reports left Foochow on 30th ultimo. Amoy 31st, and Swatow 1st instant, and had moderate monsoon and fine weather throughout. Toward the Aberdeen White Star ship Thermopylae to sea from Foochow; passed the Diamants off Namoa Island yesterday morning. Steamers in Foochow—Flours Ouelle, Sin Nanzing, Thales, and Utherthun; in Amoy—Chang Hoek Kian; in Swatow—Himalaya.

At a special sessions of the licensing justices held at the Magistracy yesterday morning the following spirit licenses for the year commencing on the 1st of next December, were renewed:—Dorabjee Nowrojee, Hongkong Hotel; J. Cook, Stag Hotel; J. Olsen, National Hotel; F. A. Line, Star Hotel; L. Kirchmann, "The land we live in;" J. Juster, "Liverpool Arms;" J. Gomes, "Welcome Tavern;" P. Smith, "City of Hamburg Tavern;" C. F. W. Petersen, "German Tavern;" J. Humby, "London Inn;" J. R. White, "Sailors' Home."

The Colony is inundated with Meteorological Observations. There are no less than five Recording Stations, and, with no desire to be invidious, we may be permitted to remark that the observations taken at the Lock Hospital are apparently the most satisfactory. We, of course, speak comparatively. There are, however, faults common to all, the readings of the barometer are given as they are taken—not reduced to 32 deg. F., nor corrected for altitude and capillarity. "We find a very important column—"Evaporation"—wanting; and others might be added with advantage, such as "dew point," "tension of vapour," "weight of vapour in a cubic foot of air," and that "weight required to complete saturation." For sanitary purposes, over and above "relative humidity," the "amount of ozone" in the atmosphere might, with equal facility, be registered daily.

A goodly number of gentlemen interested in racing, including two or three of the Stewards, assembled at the Horse Repository last evening to witness the drawing for the four subscription griffins which arrived by the steamship Peking yesterday morning. The ponies were generally admired by the cognoscenti, and justly so, we think, as a more likely looking lot of griffins in the rough we have seldom seen. The fortunate drawers were Vicomte D'Arnaux, who secured the dun and the iron grey, and Messrs. Kerfoot and James, who drew the bay and light grey respectively. The dun griffin, although the smallest of the quartette, is a nice, level made pony, with remarkable well turned hind-quarters, and standing true on a hardly looking set of legs. He has plenty of length and power in the right places, so we are justified in considering him a very promising candidate for racing honours. The iron grey is a big upstanding pony, with great length, and fairly good shape. Mr. Kerfoot's representative, a very powerful bay, and Mr. James' lengthy, racing-like grey, are good looking enough for anything. With so many handsome griffins in the Colony, the Hongkong Derby ought to prove an unprecendented success.

COLLISION BETWEEN TWO STEAMERS

The Foochow Herald, just received, has the following:—

We have just learned from Captain Dirksen, of the steamer Hae An, that while coming with that vessel up to Lugoda Anchorage the steamer Teucer, bound out, collided with her, doing considerable damage to the Hae An.

The Mail and parcels which had been placed on the sponson of the latter vessel in readiness for immediate delivery upon arrival here, were precipitated into the water and were all lost. The Teucer proceeded on her way, and the Hae An arrived here in a crippled condition.

Captain Dirksen says that had the collision occurred one minute sooner his vessel must have gone to the bottom of the river. Further particulars in next issue.

CRICKET.

HONGKONG CLUB V. OFFICERS ARMY & NAVY.

This popular annual match was commenced shortly after two o'clock yesterday afternoon in fine cricketing weather, although the sun was rather strong, but on a very bumpy wicket. The Club winning the toss, sent in the Secretary and St. Croix to withstand the attacks of Charley, fast round, and Warren, medium round. A rather bad beginning was made by the Club, Charley clean bowling St. Croix for a cipher with the score at five; and in the following over Travers fell to a shooter, after adding three to the total. The trouble had not yet ended, for Ball Irving was foolishly run out, after Hyues had hit Charley to the fence for three. Three wickets for 16 runs looked anything but healthy for the Club; however, when Dunman joined the veteran, who was playing very steadily, the aspect of the game was entirely altered. Both batsmen got well set, and made a determined stand, defying all the bowling changes with equal impunity. Friend, Bennett, and Lawford were all tried in vain; then Charley changed ends, and a separation was at length effected by his aid, Hyues being given out, caught in the slips by Carpenter, a bit of hard luck for the batsman, as it was plainly apparent to the spectators in the Pavilion that the ball bounded off his pad into the fielder's hands without touching his bat. Hyues had made 49 by vigorous hitting without giving a single chance, and he was deservedly applauded on his retirement. Four for 33. Whyte was the next comer, and commenced operations by hitting Charley for a couple, which he immediately afterwards supplemented by a drive to the palms off Lawford for three. Dunman, who was badly missed at cover point after scoring eight, had in the meantime been playing in grand form, his hitting being clean and hard, his cutting well timed, and his general placing of the ball exceedingly skilful. Lawford failing to affect a separation, Newington (the hero of the 17 balls over) was tried, and in his second over, Whyte was very smartly taken at point by Fredericks, who had to run backwards a long way to get at the ball, Dunman was the next victim, falling to a catch at short leg by Bennett off Charley, his contribution of 34, composed of one four, four threes, five twos and singles, being a fine exhibition of cricket, although as above stated he gave an easy chance at the commencement of his innings. Forbes and Blantly had every appearance of making a stand, until the last named was tempted out of his ground, by one of Warren's slows, and, missing, paid the usual penalty. Newcombe joined Forbes, who was playing with unusual care, and another long stand was made, both batsmen punishing the bowling with great impartiality. Carpenter tried his puzzling underhanders as a last resource, and eventually tempted Newcombe out of his ground with a curly one, which the batsman missed, and was cleverly stumped by Friend. Eight for 160. Ritchie was driven back on his wickets the following ball, but the last man, Hughes made a bit of a stand, driving Charley right over the trees into the Parade Ground for five, and sending him to the fence for three the next over, before being given out to that bowler leg before wicket—another ridiculous decision—leaving Forbes to carry out his bat for a well-played 34, obtained in his usual free style. Grand total 175. The fielding of the officers was really first rate; Fredericks at point, and Newington at longstop making themselves especially conspicuous. The bowling was weak all round, and it was surely a mistaken policy to keep Charley pounding away throughout the long innings without giving him a rest. Newington's delivery is not admissible according to the rules of the game; it is not bowling, but throwing, and we should have no balled him without mercy. Charley bowled 127 balls, one maiden over, and took 5 wickets at an expense of 69 runs. Carpenter's two wickets cost 12 runs, and Newington's and Warren's 10 and 16 respectively.

Friend and Newington commenced the innings of the Army and Navy to the bowling of Travers and Dunman. The "crack" hit Travers's second ball for three, and his partner served the third ball of the following over in similar fashion. Dunman's first over was a maiden, in his second Newington was caught in the slips by Hyues; in his third, Friend was smartly held by Travers at point; and in his fourth Charley was clean bowled without scoring. At this time Dunman had bowled four overs, three maidens, for three wickets at an expense of four runs—a first rate average considering that the wickets were Friend's, Newington's and Charley's. Three for 13. Carpenter played good cricket, and scored rapidly; but none of his comrades could stay with him. Travers bowled Lawford off his pad, and immediately afterwards Bennett sent an easy one off Dunman, into St. Croix's hands at long-off which was of course accepted. Warren did not trouble the scorer, Dunman shattering his wickets, and when the stumps were drawn for the night, six wickets were down for 28 runs, Carpenter being not out with 13 to his credit, well played for, although he was badly missed by the substitute fielding at cover-point. Dunman bowled 35 balls, four maiden overs, for 14 runs and five wickets; Travers trundling 40 balls, four maidens, for nine runs and one wicket. Play will be resumed as soon after noon to-day as possible, and as the Band of the Royal Laniskilling Fusiliers will be in attendance a goodly number of spectators should be present. Full score is appended:—

The following warning to Benedicts is related in a recent number of our London contemporary, the Sportsman:—In the classic town of Sunderland there lived a young mechanic. Some time before our story opens he had proposed to a damsel, and in the due and ordinary course of events had put in an appearance, with her before a properly authorised clergyman. Unfortunately, however, soon after marriage he committed the indiscretion of falling in love again, this time with a lady who is not his lawful wife. But the furies were in wait for him. Taking a pleasant walk one evening with his enamoured three ladies suddenly bore down upon the startled pair. Not a minute stopped nor stayed they, for uplifting three heavy gingham, they forthwith commenced such a heavy assault and battery that the young mechanic did not know what in the name of all that is holy was about to become of him. Perhaps he did the best thing he could have done under the circumstances—he fainted. The assailants, who comprised his wife, his sister-in-law, and his mother-in-law, seized hold of the unhappy girl who had beguiled Benedicts from the paths of virtue, and at once rolled her into a muddy pool to purge her of errors. What became of the pair is not stated, but let us hope that the twain will not call for such a public reprimand again.

LOSS OF THE AMERICAN SHIP
"HUMBOLDT."

The American ship Humboldt, Capt. Reynolds, left Shanghai on the 18th inst., for New York. On the 22nd it was blowing very hard, and about 8 p.m. on that night the ship struck a reef, but managed to clear it and get over into deep water. The gale still increasing, the Humboldt was driven broadside on to Lincoln Island, and in a short time split into five or six pieces. The ship careened over, and the crew had to hang on as best they could to the side and rigging. Almost every sea that struck the vessel swept them from their hold, and they had again to clamber up on the ship's side or were washed back. Several of the crew lashed themselves by the wrists to the rigging, and in consequence of being dashed about by the seas their wrists were cut and the other parts of their bodies much hurt. After hanging for five hours in this miserable plight they either agreed to trust themselves to the mercy of the waves (the morning being then just breaking and a low sandy beach becoming visible at some distance from the wreck), or they were swept off by a wave. After getting into the water all were thrown up on the beach with the exception of the second mate, Mr. W. C. Clinton, and the Chinese stewards and cook. These unfortunate men were not successful in reaching the shore alive. Captain Reynolds was washed ashore literally naked, the sea having swept the whole of his clothes off him. Nothing was saved from the ship, and the men were in a most miserable state. Fortunately fresh water was found on the island, and some barrels of flour, beef, and preserves having been washed on shore, food was obtained and a tent was constructed from sails, etc., which were cast up. Eight days were spent on the island. On the morning of the 30th Oct. the Gordon Castle hove in sight and the Captain noticing the wreck and tent, immediately sent a boat under the command of the second mate to bring off the wrecked sailors. On their arrival on board the Gordon Castle they were received with great kindness by Captain Waring, fed and clothed, and made as comfortable as could be, until arrival at this port.

MANILA.

We translate the following items from El Comercio :—

The new steamer El Mindanao, built for the Manila trade, by Messrs. H. McIntyre & Co., Paisley, was successfully launched on August 26th. We learn by cablegram that she left Glasgow on the 1st ultimo with a full cargo for Penang, Singapore, and Manila. The new steamer is reported to bear a striking resemblance to the Diamante. The British batque Glancee, for Liverpool, and the German ship Palmarston for London, left Manila on 17th October.

On the 8th instant there arrived at this port by the steamship Diamante the American naval officers belonging to the U.S.S. Palas. These gentlemen were sent by the U.S. Government to make astronomical observations in the Philippines, and are provided with splendid scientific instruments for the purposes of their mission. The same steamer brought from Hongkong a boiler and machinery, which are intended for one of the iron gunboats ordered to be constructed for the Government at Cavite Arsenal.

The steamship Cebu sunk in Manila Harbour some considerable time ago, which was recently raised successfully, has been making preparations for her voyage to Hongkong where she will undergo extensive repairs. She is expected to be ready to leave here on November 5th.

We learn from a reliable source that the British Authorities at Singapore have taken steps to enforce quarantine regulations on all vessels arriving there hailing from infected ports. This step is very satisfactory to us, as it will relieve vessels visiting this port from Singapore from our quarantine laws.

A certain Mr. Page, a gentleman who had passed the meridian of life, but still an old beau, became enamored of a fair and graceful girl, who had not seen twenty summers, and enclosing her a glove, wrote these lines :—

"From Glove out of the initial letter G, Tara glove is love, and that I send to thee."

NINGPO.

24th October.

The Chinese fleet left on the 22nd instant, to recommence hostilities with the sea rebels, it is to be presumed. A great review of troops was held (near the cemetery opposite the anchorage of the various gun-vessels) prior to their departure. From early dawn until about 11 o'clock the troops were bustling through the settlement on their way to the review ground, bearing with them their innumerable banners and the most filthy and dangerous-looking rusty old gingalls (I wonder that in these days the Taotai of any province is not ashamed to turn out, much less review, men with such arms and accoutrements.)

At about 11 o'clock the Chi-an, with the Futai and suite on board, passed down from the settlement, they manned their yards in true British style and fired salutes, kept up a sort of skirmishing fusillade, and fell in one by one in the rear of the Futai's ship; they were the Fu-po, Chi-wo, and Hui-chi. One of the vessels has, however, so far remained behind, and in the absence of any foreign gun-vessel her presence is very acceptable. The German gun-vessel Wolf is expected here to-day though.

One of our residents said he was greatly impressed with what he saw of the troops, for though he had often read of, he had never seen the Hosts of the Philistines before that day, he now realized the truth of the words "and there was great power in their banners."

The Futai is to go via Tientsin and Taichow to Wenchow and thence will return overland to Hangchow, the capital.

I hear things have come to such a pass that the Taotai of Wenchow has been obliged to get a body-guard of four trusty Manilamen to guard him day and night against the intrigues and designs of Mr. Kwang-king-man.

Our Taotai was very nearly lost in the Chinese gun-vessel Yuenkai on the 18th. He was en route to Tientsin when she struck a rock and very nearly went down (his steam-launch foundered in twenty fathoms owing to having had too short a tow line, experiencia docet.) The Taotai and suite were, however, safely transhipped to the Chi-an which brought them back here and the sinking vessel in tow.

The United States Consul has gone up to Shanghai for a few days. Weather fine, and harbour almost bare of shipping.—Shanghai Mercury.

Following extraordinary document has been placarded at Castlebar :— "Irish Nihilists to the front. Liberty or death! Nihilists of Castlebar, the hours has come! Cast off the hellish yoke, or die in the effort—Make sure your blows prove to the double-dyed British Government and its base, tyrannical, and bloody followers that Nihilism is not confined to Russia. Mark well your enemies. You know them. They whose lives were doomed at last meeting. Maintain the sacred vow you made before Heaven. Come, then, in the name of God and country. Remember, 'He who would be free must strike the blow himself.' Meet, you know when and where. God save Ireland. Perdition to Victoria. Freedom or blood. Now or never. To arms, Nihilists of Castlebar, to arms. Shrink not from your duty. You know when and where. God save Ireland and perdition to Victoria."

Apropos of the final closing of the well-known Polytechnic Institution, on Sept. 10, the World says :—"Now it is closed everybody is saying what an admirable institution it was, and what a pity it is it was not kept open. So said an old gentleman, with tears in his eyes, to one of the directors, adding, 'Ah, I came here fifty years ago!' 'And you've never been here since?' asked the director. 'No,' was the reply. 'And never brought any of your eight children here?' 'Never!' answered the aged man. 'Then how the diving-bell do you suppose we can keep up the institution?' rejoined the director, indignantly. It is a curious fact, that the diver—who was originally in a Lancashire regiment—whom we have all pelted with half-pence in our youth, died only a week or ten days ago. He had dived at the Royal Polytechnic for over thirty years, and left behind him a little fortune of three hundred pounds, the result of pelting of the visitors."

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

THIS DAY, ONE P.M.

Another day drawn blank on the Stock Exchange. Not a single share has changed hands since we last wrote, so far as we have been able to discover, so that we have only to report a few changes in the previous quotations. Banks failing to lead to business at 114 are now offered at one point less, and we think holders would come to terms at 112 per cent premium. Chinese Insurance shares are offered at 305, without however tempting purchasers. Docks are weak at 30, and Steamboats have been vainly offered at 24 per share premium, although at 23 sales could easily be effected. A few lots of Sugars are still on the market at 160, but as above stated no transfers have been booked.

If the reported death of "Lady Digby" be true, the East has lost a figure which filled something of the place in this generation that Lady Hester Stanhope did in the last. The career of Lady Digby was by no means so strikingly romantic as that of Lady Hester Stanhope, and in many ways it was wilder and more eccentric, but the two women had in common a long connection with the East and a peculiar and intimate acquaintance with Eastern life. Lady Digby was the divorced wife of the late Lord Ellenborough, and after a somewhat reckless career on the Continent she married, some five-and-twenty years ago, a Damascus sheikh when she herself had attained her fiftieth year. Whatever her youth may have been, her old age was peaceful and beloved, and her end at least was agreeably in contrast with that of Lady Hester Stanhope. The gifted and noble Eliot Warburton, whose brave death was the fitting close of a brilliant career, has told, as only he could tell it, the desolate end of the strange woman with whom Lamartine and Kinglake had interviewed, and who was said to have been crowned by the Arabs at Palmyra as Queen of the East. The moment she died all her people abandoned her, and her dead body was left alone in the great dwelling, which had been given to her by the Pacha of Sidon, until the English Consul at Beyrout and an American missionary came and buried her in the grove of myrtle and bay trees which she dearly loved in life. As for Lady Digby, she has died deeply regretted by the Eastern people about her, whose affection she won by her kindness and her unflinching charity.

The young milkman and his betrothed stood before the registrar of marriages.—"You take this milk-ahem!—this man for better or for worse?" the official inquired. The girl said it never a word to her before, but she supposed she would if that was the only whey.

tain a Directory for the Ports in the large portion of Asia comprised between Penang, in the Straits Settlements, and the Northern Ports, including Formosa; the Treaty Ports of China and Japan; the Philippine Islands; the British Colony of Hongkong; and the Portuguese Colony of Macao. The work will also contain the Principal Treaties between European countries and the United States and the countries East of the Straits, together with conditions of Trade, and the Port, Customs, Consular and Harbour Regulations for the Ports of China and Japan; and a description of the Ports, with the latest

Trade Statistics taken from the Reports of the Imperial Maritime Customs and other reliable sources.

The various Governments and Municipal Corporations will be applied to matter to ensure correctness upon forms guide.

It is intended to make this work a rate, and the charge for Advertisements will be

$10 per page in Hongkong, and $12 at Outports.

The size of the Page will be SEVEN order that it may circulate extensively outside this Colony, be published at a POPULAR PRICE, and can be ordered at this Office or obtained from the Agents (list to be hereafter published) for

TWO DOLLARS.

There is not space in the compass of an ordinary advertisement to detail

all the mass of information it is intended to introduce into the work, but it may be fairly asserted that no such Directory has ever been published either in Hongkong, or any other part of the East, at the price.
